

Traditional Apsara dancing

This beautiful dance has been a part of Khmer culture for well more than a millennium. The dances are better described as dance-dramas as they also convey a story or message. This dance form is an important piece of Khmer cultural heritage. The traditional Apsara dancing was almost destroyed during the Khmer Rouge regime, but over the last years it has seen a great revival.

